Progress at June 2023

2021/22 audit

Financial statements

Our planning for the audit of the 2021/22 financial statements took place in November 2022. We presented our 2021/22 Audit Plan to the November 2022 Audit Committee.

Our detailed work on the audit of the Council's financial statements commenced in December 2022.

We have progressed the audit since December and completed the fieldwork on a number of key areas. These remain to be quality reviewed and some further queries may arise as a result of this. There are some areas where the detailed fieldwork remains to be completed including;

- revaluations for other land and buildings, council housing and heritage assets
- Section 106 agreements
- Pension liability.

The latter point was subject to national consideration as audit firms, the NAO and CIPFA assessed the impact of updated information from the triennial review of pension funds and the impact of that on the 2021/22 financial statements. Stakeholders have set out their views in the last few weeks and as a firm, we have agreed our way forward.

Since April, across all firms, work on local authority audits was paused to allow for the completion of work on NHS audits in accordance with parliamentary timetables.

We intend to return to the 2021/22 audit in July to complete our work.

2022/23 audit

The Local audit market has been struggling for a number of years. We have explored these items in detail in our publication About time? \(see page 7\). Our reflections on recent past years is that we have tried to please everyone and spread our resource too thinly, particularly given the well documented symptoms of the state of the local audit system.

This year will see a change to our resourcing plans. We intend to commence all upper tier audits (at least one year for those councils with old audits) in July 2023 with a hard close completion of 31 October 2023. We will then put all of our resource into delivering all 2022/23 districts.

For Ashford, we plan to commence the 2022/23 audit in November.

Following a number of staff departures, we have had to rebalance audit portfolios. For Ashford this means that a new engagement lead and audit manager will undertake the 2022/23 audit.

Value for money

We report the findings from our value for money work in our Auditor's Annual Report. Under guidance issued by the National Audit Office we are required to issue our Auditor's Annual Report no more than three months after the date of the opinion on the financial statements.

Planning for our 2021/22 value for money work commenced in March 2023. We anticipate completing our work and reporting our findings in line with the guidance issued by the National Audit Office.

Delayed publication of audited local authority accounts

What more can be done?

All key stakeholders in the local audit system will need to continue their efforts to secure improvement and a return to high levels of compliance with timely publication of audited accounts. The report explores several of the causes of delay and steps which might be taken to reduce the incidence of delays.

These steps relate to systems leadership, holding both authorities and auditors to account for their performance, a continued focus on the quality of accounts preparation and audit, and the effective engagement between auditors and audited bodies.

The report makes 20 recommendations for improving timeliness in publishing audited accounts.

The report also sets out a checklist which management and the audit committee should consider. The report recommends DLUHC, CIPFA or the FRC set out expectations for the system as a whole.

Exploring the reasons for delayed publication of audited local authority accounts

March 2023

Delayed publication of audited local authority accounts

In December 2022 there were over 600 local audit opinions outstanding. This means that many stakeholders can't rely on audited accounts to inform decision making – a significant risk for governance and control.

Local authority accounts are becoming increasingly complex as accounting standards evolve and local authorities enter more and more innovative financing arrangements and income generation projects. A significant challenge in managing local audits is the differing needs of various stakeholders. The local government sector, central government and regulators need to agree on the purpose of local audit and find a consensus on improving efficiency in publishing accounts. Grant Thornton has produced a report that explore the reasons for delayed publication of audited local authority accounts.

Table 1 below illustrates the declining performance against the target date for publication of audited accounts in recent years.

Table 1 Audited accounts published by target date over the last six years

Local government procurement and contract management-

Background

Local authorities in England spend around £82.4 billion a year on goods and services. More than a third of all UK government spending on goods and services is spent in the local government sector¹. Allowing for capital spending as well, the UK public sector procures around £300 billion a year overall.

We reviewed a large number of reports, inspections and interventions issued by a number of firms, including 53 Annual Auditor Reports issued by Grant Thornton UK LLP. To help build on existing good practice, in this report we highlight some common themes for members and officers to consider:

This report considers a selection of issues we identified under each theme and makes recommendations both to local authorities and, in one case, to central government. The report presents a good practice checklist for local authority members and officers to reflect on.

The analysis sets out five key themes for ensuring good practice:

- Strategic planning
- Internal control
- Time, technical expertise, and people
- Commercial awareness
- Contract management

Grant Thornton – Nearly 60 councils at risk of ‘running out of money’ next year

Grant Thornton has warned that the soaring cost of living combined with a decade of austerity could see up to a sixth of English councils fully deplete their reserves in 2023-24 without substantial spending cuts.

Research found that, as a result of higher inflation, councils are expected to have a cumulative budget deficit of £7.3bn by 2025-26 – an increase of £4.6bn since forecasts made at the beginning of this year.

Grant Thornton said that although reserves were bolstered by more than £5bn in 2020-21 due to higher government funding, these balances will “continue to unwind through the long tail of Covid-19” with close to 60 councils forecast to use all earmarked and unallocated reserves next year.

Without additional income, authorities would need to make savings of over £125 per person by 2025-26, equal to the average yearly spend on homelessness, sports and leisure, parks and open spaces, libraries and waste services.

Phillip Woolley, Head of Public Services Consulting at Grant Thornton, said: “Local government has faced unprecedented demands and pressures over the last decade and without action from both central government and councils, in the face of these inflationary pressures, the list of authorities in need of exceptional support looks set to grow quickly.

“Our research shows the additional Covid-19 funding, while critical to support immediate challenges, has not addressed underlying systemic issues or the precariousness of councils’ financial sustainability in the face of economic instability.

“Local authorities are also now facing the risk of interest rate rises, increasing debt financing costs and the real risk of reduced funding from central government, in response to the current economic turmoil facing the country. Without committed intervention from all sides, there is a risk that the sector levels down instead of up.”

Grant Thornton estimated unitary authorities would have the largest budget gap (£1.8bn) by 2025-26, but district councils would have the largest gap compared to net spending at 10.2%.

The firm added that austerity and changing policy demands have left councils struggling to innovate in their services and prevented investment in finance and procurement, diminishing the sector’s ability to tackle medium-term challenges.

Grant Thornton said additional government funding alone will not lead to improvements, and that councils should focus on improving governance and developing financial stability plans.

Joanne Pitt, local government policy manager at CIPFA, said: “With no spending review and no fair funding review, CIPFA shares Grant Thornton’s concerns about the financial sustainability of some in the sector.

“While there are actions local authorities can take to strengthen their own financial resilience, they are facing significant inflationary pressures and rising demand which makes this hugely challenging for the sector.”

Audit Committees: Practical Guidance For Local Authorities And Police – CIPFA

In October CIPFA published this guide, stating “This fully revised and updated edition takes into account recent legislative changes and professional developments and supports the 2022 CIPFA Position Statement. It includes additional guidance and resources to support audit committee members, and those working with and supporting the committee’s development.”

CIPFA go on to state “Audit committees are a key component of governance. Their purpose is to provide an independent and high-level focus on the adequacy of governance, risk and control arrangements. They play an important role in supporting leadership teams, elected representatives, police and crime commissioners and chief constables.

This edition updates CIPFA’s 2018 publication to complement the 2022 edition of the CIPFA Position Statement on audit committees.

The suite of publications has separate guidance resources for audit committee members in authorities, members of police audit committees, and a supplement for those responsible for guiding the committee.

New aspects include legislation changes in Wales and new expectations in England following the Redmond Review. All authorities and police bodies are encouraged to use the publication to review and develop their arrangements in accordance with the Position Statement.

The appendices include suggested terms of reference, a knowledge and skills framework and effectiveness improvement tools.”

The guide covers a number of key areas for Audit Committees, including:

- Purpose
- Core functions:
 - Governance, Risk and Control
 - Accountability and Public Reporting
 - Assurance and Audit arrangements
 - Ensuring focus
- Independence and accountability
- Membership and effectiveness

The guide can be purchased via the CIPFA website:
